Zest of orange

More than a dash of citrus makes this kitchen really sizzle.

DESIGNER Andrea D'Cruz: "Timber veneer at the entry to the home in Sydney's eastern suburbs wraps around to form the face finish of the walls, display shelving and concealed walk-in pantry, creating a visual connection and flow between the two spaces. A striking orange tone on the joinery, while unexpected, has a strong visual impact and also evokes a sense of energy and fun. We selected stainless steel and honed granite for the food-preparation surfaces, for their durability and low-maintenance qualities." What luxury item did you choose for this kitchen regardless of budget? "Most definitely, the Wolf oven, which was actually chosen by the owner – it's an oven/cooktop for a real cook!"
